Litterbug Campaign Chairman Reports Bay, Waveland In 'Generally Good' Condition Of Cleanliness Now

In a staggered survey of Bay St. Louis and Waveland it was found by Mrs. J. W. Hill Jr., Chairman of the "Litterbug" campaign, and Mrs. Max Kohler, co-chairman, that generally, the two towns are in good condition from the standpoint of cleanliness.

Beginning on Highway 90 at the State Roadside Park, the committee women placed posters at that point and noted that conditions were favorable.

In fact, it was found that all but one or two business places on the Highway were very well kept. Only in one case was rubbish used for a "filler" and in this case the owner consented to cooperate in cleaning up.

On St. John St. it was found in one section that a simple garden overflowing with white narcissus blossoms was flanked on the other side of the street by a disreputable refuse heap.

On Second St., right in the midst of one of the best residential sections of Bay St. Louis, an unsightly pile of discarded roofing paper and various other genus of rubbish was also being used as a "filler." However, on Sunday this particular spot was being burned in an attempt to clear it up, which proves that property owners are sincerely cooperating in the clean-up drive.

On a visit to the St. Rose de Lima school to deliver an appeal to the children, Mrs. Hill was told by the Sister Superior at that institution that the school attendants were not only willing but eager to keep the grounds clean, but she requested that adults using the cemetery opposite be more careful in disposing of paper and other refuse when visiting the cemetery.

A new resident in Bay St. Louis called the chairman to state that "she was making an effort to clean and beautify her grounds but that the ditches surrounding her property were stagnant, odorous and would be "infested with bacteria" when warm weather arrived unless they were cleaned.

Another resident called to remind that there are dried cement sacks littered at one point on the beach front, and a promise was made that another effort would be made in enlisting the aid of the property owner in this case.

There were too many instances in which boxes and old tubs are being used for garbage receptacles. Housewives are reminded that no matter how carefully newspaper and other refuse is placed in containers without lids that either the wind or stray dogs will wreak havoc with it in moments.

It is brought to the attention of property owners that garbage or trash used as a "filler" in low sections is a useless project. Garbage deteriorates and wastes into practically nothing, leaving a worse condition than before. The consideration for surrounding neighbors who must wade through the period when the garbage is disintegrating, and face the discouraging factor, should also be remembered.

In the Waveland district there were found only one or two business places whose grounds could be kept cleaner. In every case in both towns the committee was received cordially and left encouraged.

At one point in Waveland it was gratifying to note that in the place of one of the most unsightly and unsanitary garbage "dumps" used mostly by visitors to the coast, was a completely improved condition to which a warning sign had been added threatening a $25.00 fine for any future infraction.

SCOUT WEEK IS OBSERVED BY LOCAL TROOPS

National Boy Scout Week is being celebrated throughout the Nation Feb. 7-14. All three local Boy Scout Troops have been participating on the nation-wide observance.

The boys attended Benediction at Our Lady of the Gulf Church. Father Graham of St. Augustine's Seminary later showed movies in the Scout House. The films dealt with Communism in India. He also discussed political conditions in the country.

Following the movie refreshments were served and games enjoyed by the boys.

TO DISCUSS BAY TRAIN SERVICE

Information received by the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 indicated that the meeting to be held Feb. 24 between L & N R.R. representatives, City Commissioners and other interested persons may be of the utmost importance to Bay St. Louis and Hancock County in the future.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 24 at 10 a.m. at the City Hall.

The question of securing full passenger service on all L & N trains gains new significance now that a movement to secure industrial development has been launched by local civic and business leaders.

A meeting several months ago failed to secure this passenger service for the Community. Following this meeting the City Council passed a resolution, authorizing City Attorney Dan M. Russell Jr. to institute legal proceedings to obtain this service.

The council based its action on a law passed in 1942, wherein Officials of County Seats may cause railroads to stop all trains for passenger service. The L & N was allowed time to answer this resolution before legal action was started.

The City Council received a letter from the office of the president of the L & N railroad, Mr. Tilford, requesting another meeting to continue the discussion before beginning such

1 DEAD, 1 HURT IN TRUCK, 2 CAR SMASHUP TUES.

Greco Anticich, Biloxi businessman, died and another man was seriously injured as the result of a three-way automobile-truck smashup. The accident occurred on Highway 90 9 1/2 miles west of Bay St. Louis at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Anticich, driving a 1953 Chevrolet reportedly was attempting to pass a 1953 Ford tractor trailer driven by Joseph Toche of Biloxi when the accident occurred. Both vehicles were headed west. Anticich collided head-on with a 1948 Chevrolet driven by George E. Pucher, Naval Air Training Station, Corpus Christi, Texas.

Pucher was rushed to Biloxi by Fahey Ambulance Service. He was found to be suffering a broken pelvis, lacerations of the neck and a fractured right leg.

Anticich was taken to a Biloxi Hospital by Piazza Ambulance Service. He died at 6:50 p.m.

Toche was uninjured. State Highway Patrolmen William Kenny and Robert Blackwell investigated the accident.

KEESLER MAN DIES AETER AUTO WRECK

Raymond E. Dawson, 25, died Sunday at 7:04 a.m. as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident. Seriously injured was R. Carter, Keesler, a passenger in the same car.

Driver of the car Clarence Cotter, also from Keesler, escaped injury. All were members of the 3392nd Air Squadron Class at Keesler AFB.

The three men were driving a 1950 Plymouth when they were involved in a crash on US 90 at 4 a.m. Sunday morning when Cotter apparently fell asleep at the wheel of the 1950 Plymouth in which they were riding. The car left the road and swerved onto an embankment. Cotter awakened and jerked the steering wheel to get back on the paved road. The car veered, flipping over twice.

The injured men were taken by Fahey Ambulance Service to Keesler Field Hospital.

The accident occurred eight miles west of Bay St. Louis in front of the Paul Lagasse farm.

Patrolmen William Kenney and Robert Blackwell of the State Highway Patrol were on duty and reported the accident.

"Bay St. Louis and Hancock County residents are urged to contact these Blood Bank representatives between 9 and 12 a.m. Monday and join this program," Chairman Glover said.

An organizational meeting of the newly-formed Hancock County Industrial Committee was held Tuesday afternoon at the Courthouse.

The committee has been formed to promote industry for Hancock County.

The Industrial Committee was formed when members of the state A & I Board met Friday with the County Board of Supervisors and other interested citizens. Also present at the meeting Friday was Lee Woods, Industrial Field Representative for the Mississippi Power Company.

Object of the committee is to interest industry in locating in Hancock County.

Lambert T. Boyd Jr., Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to head the Industrial Committee.

Other members are Johnson, president of the County Board of Supervisors; John Scafide, Mayor of Bay St. Louis; Garfield Ladner, Mayor of Waveland; H. H. Shattuck of Coast Electric; Walter Gex Jr., Mercantile Bank and Trust Co.; Robert Hamilton, Hancock Bank; Homer Gregory, Mississippi Power Co.; and Howard Le Tissier and O. W. Delph, local businessmen.

Mrs. Mabel Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to act as secretary and treasurer.

Taxes, available labor and natural advantages will be the major factors considered by industries contemplating new locations, it was said.

A brochure is being compiled by the Mississippi Power Co. This will present in booklet form information supplied by the local Chamber of Commerce. When completed the brochure will be used by the Industrial Board in furnishing information to industrial firms interested in the community.

It was pointed out that the proximity to Gulfport and New Orleans ports, availability of living quarters, climate, railroad facilities and general labor conditions in this part of the country add up to an incentive for industry to locate here.

The committee has been immediately active, and already has entered into correspondence with four manufacturers informing them of the suitability of the community as a site for their types of business.

Frank Trapanis In Collision

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trapani were involved in a collision about 7 p.m. Saturday at Nocate Ave. and St. John St. Driver of the other car was a Sergeant from Keesler Field whose name was not disclosed.

The car driven by Trapani was hit on the right front side, resulting in damage to a fender and part of the door.

Mrs. Trapani suffered bruises on the right arm. Neither Trapani nor the Sergeant were injured.

THREE INJURED IN COLLISION SUNDAY

Warrant Officer Norman Glass, his wife, and one of their three children were seriously injured Sunday afternoon in an automobile collision.

Chester Schultz, driver of the other car, was not injured. The accident occurred on Highway 90 at the Dunbar Ave. crossing.

Glass, who was driving a 1953 Chrysler, received serious back injuries. His wife, the former Frances Saucier, suffered severe chest, back and head injuries, and their 18-month-old daughter, Debra Sue, who was sitting on her mother's lap, received lacerations on the head. All three are hospitalized at Keesler Field, where they were taken by Piazza Ambulance Service. Two other Glass children, riding on the rear seat, were uninjured.

According to Highway Patrolmen William Kennedy and Robert Blackwell, investigating officers, Schultz was booked with failure to observe a stop sign.

GROW VEGETABLES ON COTTON ACREAGE TO HELP KEEP FARM INCOME HIGH

Mississippi farmers can keep their income high in 1954, despite the cotton acreage slash, if they will exercise good judgment in utilizing the acres that last year were planted in cotton.

That is what St. Corley, Commissioner of Agriculture, told the Mississippi Seedmen's Association. "There are any number of efficiency crops that we can use to replace cotton," Corley said. "And high on the list are vegetables." Corley said that Mississippi never has and still does not produce enough vegetables to meet demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Levy and their three children, who had made their home in Bay St. Louis, on Hickory Lane, for the last several years, moved to New Orleans, where they will reside in the future.

St. Margaret's Daughters And Altar Society Meet

The regular monthly meeting of Our Lady of the Gulf Altar Society and St. Margaret's Daughters took place on Thursday, February 4, with Mrs. Alden Mauffray presiding for the Altar Society and Mrs. V. J. Piazza president of St. Margaret's Daughters. The meeting was opened with a prayer. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and financial reports given. Mrs. Piazza sighted in her reports help of several persons for medical attention, seven families helped with groceries and three families given clothes during the month.

A substantial donation of money was given St. Margaret's Daughters and Mrs. Piazza asked each member to attend Mass and receive Communion for the Donor and family.

Through the number of subscriptions to the Catholic Action of the South, Mrs. Piazza received a donation for St. Margaret's Daughters. A letter from the National Council of Catholic Women telling of the Confraternity Convention, to be held at Jackson on Wednesday, Feb. 10, was read by Mrs. Alden Mauffray. Father Taylor spoke on the matter and said that he would take 28 young people to the convention.

It was agreed that each organization mail in a donation to the March of Dimes. Further plans continued for the proposed Pancake supper and the Cake Sale for Easter were discussed. Special prayers were said for Mrs. Agnes Zingaling, who was operated on and Mrs. Galloway, former NCCW president, who is very ill. The treasurer was instructed to pay the annual candle bill for the candles used in the church. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. M. Beyer and Mrs. Charles Souis.

The Juniors came first in the High School with $7.45 followed by the Sophomores with $7.29.

The Bay High debaters reported a very profitable and enjoyable experience in entering the Debate Contest held in Gulfport, February 3. Bay High debated Demonstration school from Hattiesburg and was defeated. Bay High's average was 80 and Demonstration's average was 83. Demonstration won the contest by defeating Gulfport in the finals. Bay High's team was composed of the following students: William Reese, Hilda Russell, Corrie O'Farrell and Gary Stoufflet.

T.V. REVIEW PRESENTED BY MISS BLAIZE'S JUNIORS

At the regular assembly period on February 4, Miss Blaize's Home Room Juniors presented a very entertaining program entitled "The Juniors' T.V. Review."

The first number presented was the popular Liberace show. Liberace was very cleverly portrayed by Chris Bell. Jerry Bienvenu played the violin as his brother George's stand-in. Liberace fans Darling Normand and Shirley Bufkin swooned.

The second number, "Rat-Trap," written by Jerry Bienvenu, was a take-off of "Dragnet." It was very humorously enacted by Jerry Bienvenu, Donald Landers and Robert Bing. Coach Nobles climaxed the show by capturing the villain with a cap pistol.

Third and last on the program was a wrestling match. Wrestlers Carlos Arnold and Robert Bing finally tangled with Referee, Wheeler Hartsfield. Following the match, Ring Announcer, Chris Bell, introduced four celebrities: Robert Q. Lewis, Clayton Adam, Jane Russell, Shirley Bufkin; Arthur Godfrey, Donald Cole; Marilyn Monroe, Darling Normand.

The review was directed by Janet Breland, who was also the very gracious master of ceremonies.

The children in the Special Classroom wish to thank Mrs. Dorch and Mrs. Ruhr of Waveland for the nice dolls they sent. Mrs. Robert Bienvenu made lovely doll clothes for them. The children would like to thank Mrs. Bienvenu and her family for all the new puzzles, toys and books.

They also owe Mrs. Chamberlain, her helpers and the Girl Scouts many thanks for the parties and present given to them.

Mrs. Green's and Mrs. Harriel's fifth grade classes are planning Valentine parties for Friday afternoon.

TYPEWRITING TOURNAMENT

This week the finalists for the first and fourth periods in the typewriting contest were: Mary Palmer, Alice Shubert, Otto Bourgeois and Clara Lee Ketchum. The winners of the fifth and sixth periods were: Walter Damiens, Carson Landers, Dolores Hursey and Rosemary Millinery. The winner of the first and fourth periods was Alice Shubert, played yesterday morning. The winner of the fifth period is Walter Damiens, but he cannot meet the winner of the sixth period because it has not been finished due to absence of one of the winners. This will be completed this week.

In order not to let the high spirit of the contest flourish and diminish, we have this week started another tournament, that of a five minute test with a limit of three errors. The first and fourth periods will play for a final winner, then playing each other. Then, the fifth and sixth periods will play for a winner each period, then a final winner. In the final for the week, the winner of the first and fourth will play the winner of the fifth and sixth period classes, for the final winner. Much enthusiasm has been shown in the contest, and we are hoping to keep this up throughout the year until—perhaps when the season comes that we can have some Boat Races!

BOOKKEEPING CLASS

The bookkeeping classes this week are studying and preparing income tax returns. Some of the students know a little about this ordeal, but many of them have not seen a return before and know nothing about making one out. The teacher, Mrs. Earl Byrd, secured forms from the post office here and has some large charts of each page of the form 1040, including large posters of the withholding forms and the employee's withholding exemption certificate. In the class, the third and sixth periods the students are taught how to fill out the income tax return for both the short and the long forms, to determine which is (or would be) cheaper for him to file. Many students outside of class have shown interest in learning how to do this, as it is necessary knowledge for all Bay High students to have.

Dr. and Mrs. Bert Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goldman, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Chapman, Mrs. Wilson Wittenberger, and Mrs. Diane Brigne attended a lecture and pictures on Dog Obedience Training at the Great Southern Country Club last Wednesday evening.

WAVELAND WANDERINGS

BY GEORGETTE HALL

Mark Saturday, February 20 in your appointment book as a very special evening. On that date the PTA of the Waveland School is going to sponsor a dance at the Top Hat, all proceeds to go to the PTA. Leland's Band from New Orleans is going to provide the music. It is expected that a large group of teenagers and parents will turn out on that date, so be sure to make a reservation. Call Mrs. Richard Noonan about details. Bring your friends, too! Donation is $1.00.

Misses Marian and Geraldine Bourgeois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bourgeois, were hostesses at a King Cake party given Friday evening, Feb. 5. Pretty Marian Bourgeois reigned as queen and Alan Noonan was king. The young guests enjoyed delicious refreshments, sandwiches, cakes, cookies, candy and soft drinks. Throughout the evening the guests played games and danced. Miss Sallie Yarbrough drew the lucky pecan which means the party this Friday night will be given by her.

Guests of the Misses Bourgeois were: Arthemese Noto, Catherine and Kenneth Stieffel, Marilyn and Alan Noonan, Frances Brenske, Barbara and Pat Villere, Sallie Yarbrough, Jean, Betty and Kathy Martin, Ronald Bourgeois, Eddie Bourgeois, Lynne Hall, Carolyn Morreale, Patricia Bourgeois, Margie Perron, Eugene LaFontaine, Larry Mailhous, Freddie Bourgeois, Alvin and Otto Bourgeois, Pete Ladner, Ronnie Favre and Edward Collier.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Fehrenbach and daughters, Janet and Carlean, spent the weekend in their home on Market Street.

Miss Cecile Turcotte, teacher of the fourth and fifth grades at the Waveland School, deserves much credit for the miniature store her students have on display in the Waveland School. Products of all kinds made by the students are represented, even to a delivery car and the basket in which purchases are carried.

Miss Turcotte took her class into local stores and showed them meats, frozen foods, vegetables, dairy products and groceries were prepared, potected and presented for sale to the public.

Up on the Earth's surface, a barrel of oil may be worth as much as $3.00; a thousand cubic feet of natural gas, as much as 20 cents . . . but oil and natural gas are not worth a cent to anybody until their hiding places are found, and this can be done only through the difficult and costly route of wildcatting—exploratory drilling.

Before oil or gas field development can bring a profit to the driller, royalties to the landowner and tax revenue to the state and local governments, somebody must find the field. Somebody must risk thousands of dollars on a wildcat well, knowing that the odds against that well resulting in a new discovery are 20 to one in Mississippi . . . more than twice the eight-to-one odds that are the national average.

The companies and independent operators who are Mississippi's oil and gas industry are risking great sums of private capital to find and develop new fields . . . to make usable and valuable something which was of no practical worth before discovery. In performing this vital function, they need and deserve the encouragement and support of every Mississippian.

As I See It . . .

By DR. C. M. SHIPP

When a baby makes its appearance into this strange world it assumes the role of a foreigner, can speak not a word and has not yet learned the sign language. Not like other warm blooded baby animals which at birth can jump up, prance around, lazily legged looking for something to do and soon have the mother tit in its mouth taking their first meal.

The new human baby is the most helpless thing in this world. It would literally starve to death with food in abundance within two inches of its mouth. It has plenty of brain cells and a well developed nervous system, but no coordination in its movements, perpetually in motion but going nowhere.

It lives and grows by instinct. Its most important acts are to suck and swallow and rid itself of body waste. The only way to express its hunger and hunger is by crying. Unfortunately, this habit follows some of us into adolescence and middle life. We often see grownups belly aching and crying for things they want (a bad habit).

When a human baby is born it has a stomach about the size of a small lemon and holds a little more than an ounce of liquid. Its stomach is a wonderful organ functioning like a new watch but has to be wound up about every two and a half hours. This is done by using a bottle with a nipple on one end, as all new mothers and fathers soon learn. The crying is like the alarm clock and cannot be turned off until the baby is made comfortable. The baby usually cries when its stomach is empty or if it is sitting in a soft pile of wet feces. If someone will only fix the bottle and change the diaper the little one will settle back comfortably and go to sleep. When new babies about 28 out of every 24 hours. See how nice the baby will act provided it gets a little cooperation?

It must be admitted babies are a burden and a lot of trouble in early life but they pay us back a thousand-fold in joy and pleasures that can't be bought with money. They ask a thousand questions that a Solomon couldn't answer and we say to them, "hush," but we don't mean it, because it feeds our ego when they hold us in such esteem and confidence in our wisdom.

They ask us for a nickle and we hesitatingly give it to them while our heart cries out to give them more to abate their young and eager appetites for the things I, too, wanted, and never got.

The air caresses a father builds for his child a Croesus couldn't afford but the desire, love and yearning is there and that is what counts.

The moral is, don't be afraid to go

ASKS LEGISLATURE FOR STRONGER LAWS AGAINST FOREST FIRES

JACKSON. (Special) — Strengthening of laws designed to curb maliciously caused and costly forest fires will be urged by the current legislature by the Mississippi Forestry Association as an essential protection to the state's timber and the N. I. "green gold" crop.

Setting of forest fire laws as a major legislative duty of the non-partisan association of farm and timber land owners, semesters and woodsmen, is stressed out that over 98 per cent of the conflagrations are malicious.

The association will sponsor a proposal to make the willful, malicious and negligent setting of forest fires a felony offense punishable by death or that over 98 per cent of the conflagrations are malicious.

With the Mississippi No. 1 industry, it is incumbent on the legislature to afford them protection in the state's economy. President John S. Harris of the association said, "A still keeping with the part they play in the state's economy, those who would set fire to this provider of payrolls from the farm to the factory that the state will not tolerate wanton destruction of its highly important forest."

Another recommendation of the association, made by James Clark of the Cane Lumber and Manufacturing Co., chairman of the legislative committee, would assess costs of suppressing a forest fire against the person responsible for it.

The present statute would be amended to provide that the State Forestry Commission, or any recognized fire suppression agency shall have a lien upon the property of any person, firm or corporation negligently or willfully and maliciously responsible for the starting of existence of fires upon lands not his or their own.

"The particular purpose of this proposed amendment is to provide only for the recovery of the cost of fire suppression," Mr. Clark explained. "The association will also sponsor legislation to make the larceny of timber a felony, as well as permit the State Plant Board, when requested by the State Plant Board, to act as its agent in carrying out and executing orders of the board."

Clark said the purpose of that change is to allow the forestry commission to assist in the early discovery and suppression of forest insect pests and diseases.

The association will also continue its efforts to secure establishment of a four-year School of Forestry at Mississippi State College. Preliminary efforts in that direction have already been made by the Association.

11-Year-Old Boy Starts Rock Collection While On Trip Through Western States

EVERETT KERGOSEN

Age 11

I have a hobby. I shall tell you about it. Last summer we went on a trip to the West. I was not interested at first. While we were in New Mexico we went to Carlsbad Cavern. I enjoyed the scenery of it. We had dinner in the cave. While we were down there my brother brought a box that had a collection of rocks.

As we went on we enjoyed the scenery. While we were in Nevada, a little town called Yerington, we went to eat dinner in a cafe and in a while there was a big collection of rocks. They were so pretty I decided to collect some.

My first rock came out of a tin that we were using to hold our hats. We were in Canon City, Colorado. We were going to the Royal Gorge and all over the hills and mountains which looked like silver and diamonds. As we went on we collected more and more.

When I got home I went to the library and got a book to help me. I found out that the rocks were called "fossils." I knew that the Seminary had a big rock collection so I checked some of them.

But yet I needed more help so I went to my school library and got a book. So I still need help. Among my other collections, rocks are one of my best. I hope to continue with my rock collection.

Get the most out of your dairy animals. Here are some February jobs that should be done if the dairy animals are to produce to the best of their ability and you are to make the most profit.

Make sure that your producing cows are provided with shelter and night housing. Bed them down on rainy days and during the next heat all over the hills and mountains which looked like silver and diamonds.

Keep young calves in dry, well-bedded stalls or sheds. The best plan is to keep them in individual small (4 foot by 6 foot) pens.

Watch for lice. These parasites can be kept off by using a reduction in milk production.

Feed your heifers the best quality hay available—all they will eat all day long. Give just enough grain feed to keep them in reasonable flesh.

Plan now to plant at least a third more grazing hay and silage than you think you will need.

Investigate thoroughly the cost of some type of irrigation system.

Produce the cleanest, best milk practical. Babies and children depend on it, and high quality products create stronger demand. Demand makes for more sales at better prices.

BY KIT MICHAEL

Plans for spring cleaning are in the air. Pop has plans for doing the painting. Mom has the decorating. Seed catalogues are in evidence and blue prints for new garden furnishings are on hand. A healthy sign, a sure sign of spring.

Organization in planning gives a long way on any job. Study your job and cut as many corners as possible. Knowing a few quick tricks often means the difference between a good job, well done, and a chore, miserably finished. With that thought in mind your reaper has a few sure fire hints that might be just the thing you're looking for.

Do you have trouble keeping your keys identified. Some time soon gather them all together, mark them with fingernail polish. For front door, Garage mark with a G. Backdoor mark B etc. A simple solution to an exasperating problem.

In the laundry, handkerchiefs and napkins have a way of getting lost. Next washday try putting them in a net bag made of two large dishcloths. Put them through the rinse in their bag. Compact and intact when ready for the dryer or your line for drying.

Curtains are always a problem. They seem to tear and give out long before the body of the panel is ever worn. Try giving your rod a good waxing. It can be done by dipping one end in melted paraffin and allowing it to harden. If the coating is not heavy enough, give it another dip and allow it to harden. Your sheer curtains will slip over the paraffin. Catching and tearing will become a thing of the past.

Save your soap sippers. Soap jelly has many important time saving uses in the home. Best way to save soap is to divide sippers into two groups. Bath and laundry. Grind your soap bits with your meat grinder, or chop by hand into uniform bits. Add 1 quart of water to 1.3 cup of soap and place in top of double boiler. The steam will completely dissolve the soap, blend it and give you a jelly solution when cooled. Jer it and use it often.

Bath soap jelly does an excellent shampoo job. It's wonderful for your lingerie. Eliminates rubbing to get a lather, doesn't separate your material. Jelly made from laundry soap has many uses. Try dipping a brush in jelly and treat ingrained soil. Works like magic on unsightly lines on collars and cuffs. They vanish almost immediately.

A reminder—never mix soap jelly with a detergent; they will not mix chemically.

Next time your floors need waxing try putting the floor wax in an old stocking. First, wet the stocking, wring it out and then spoon in enough wax to cover the floor. Fold over the top of the stocking, making a pad for your hand. The wax will go on the floor evenly and you will save dragging the can around and dipping for a new supply. Wax that is applied evenly and thinly will dry quickly and will give a beautiful, hard finish.

With that thought in mind your reaper has a few sure fire hints that might be just the thing you're looking for.

Are you papering any of your rooms this spring? Save a fair sized piece of wallpaper for patching. Tack it on your storage-room wall and let it mellow and age with your room. If a piece is needed to repair a damaged spot, your piece will match perfectly.

A shoe buffer will go a long way to bring a high luster on your favorite polished piece. If you do not have an electric buffer, cut down on the elbow grease and use a sheepskin shoe buffer. The buffer will fit your hand easily, and will save many minutes of polishing.

If your kitchen floor was waxed recently, but has a few black marks or deep scuffs, use a cloth dipped in a waxed floorcleaner or liquid polishing wax. It will come off in a matter of seconds and will replace the mark with a coating of wax. Will give you days, even weeks longer between waxing jobs.

Have you often wished for a set of TV snacktrays, but felt they were just a little beyond this month's budget? Take the small framed picture you've stacked in the closet and use them. Cover the backs of the frame with colorful plastic, cork or felt, and freshen the frame itself with a coat of enamel. Handy, attractive, and you've saved several dollars toward your new drapes.

A discarded car mirror outside your kitchen window facing the driveway will work wonders for the homemaker. How often have you been caught by the doorbell and could dial of an embarrassing when you answered it? A mirror giving you a sneak-view of the drive or porch will tell all give you time to put that wisp of hair back in place, take the shine off your nose, maybe a quickie with the lipstick. Saves on mental torture and allows you to face your guests in a better frame of mind.

Serving an oven-to-table dinner? Protect your table by using a wooden pastry board with legs. The legs assure the protection of your table and will highlight your main dish. Legs used on pastry board may be made from rubber-tipped door stops. Metal door stops are sturdy, easily attached and low priced.

Hot plate mats for large platters or casseroles may be made by slip-covering magazines in fabrics left over from your drapes or materials that will contrast with your table linens or place mats. Snap or baste fourth side shut, so that the covers can be removed easily for laundering.

Covers may be trimmed with embroidery, applique, or stencil an initial or your own design. These covers make excellent party prizes, personal gifts, and are good for bazaars and church sales.

Keep a waxed silk scarf on hand to protect your hair-do on rainy days. Place a silk scarf between waxed paper and press with a hot iron. Protect the ironing board with wrapping paper while pressing. This trick will not only give you a waterproof covering for your head, but will add new life to silk scarves limp from constant use. Wax only silks that are colorfast.

Are you using a recipe that calls for only a few drops of lemon juice? Don't waste a whole lemon. Just prick it with a fork, squeeze out the juice you want and replace the lemon in your refrigerator to keep fresh until next time.

If your lemons are on the dried-out side, try putting them in hot water five or ten minutes before squeezing. Will not only restore your lemons, but will produce more juice.

Old beat up powder puffs can serve you well in an unusual sort of a way. Try them for polishing your silver, copper or even chrome. After the puffs have been cleaned (you can do so by tossing them into your next wash) use them to polish-clean then, polish-shine your loveliest pieces. Their soft texture will not mar the finest surface. Keep the small puffs for the small jobs and the big bath-powder jobs for the big pieces.

The big puffs are fine for that polishing job you need on the car.

A sure fire way of getting rid of ants and roaches is with Chlordane. Ants and roaches are ever with in this area and even the fussiest housekeeper faces this problem at one time or another.

Harold Gunderson Extension Entomologist of Iowa State College has worked the problem out completely. He suggests:

Clear out all food storage cupboards. Spray or "paint" back edges of the cupboard walls and shelves with 2 per cent Chlordane. This can be had by adding water to 50 per cent if not available in commercial package at your store.

Apply insecticide to back edges of kitchen counters; also to window sills, thresholds, base of pipes as they enter the house. Treated surfaces are not poisonous to pets or people.

IMPORTANT: Label your solution container clearly and keep it out of your children's reach.

Repeat your Chlordane application in two weeks, carry on monthly throughout the warm months. Spray antihills to destroy the pests in their own camp.

When applying Chlordane, don't forget your kitchen or laundry sink bottom and pipes. Spray under your refrigerator, you deep freeze and around baseboards. Don't forget the bottom of cabinets. CAUTION: Avoid getting on dishes, pots or pans.

INSPECTION HELPS
TRUCK FARMERS
OBTAIN MARKETS

One of the best things that ever happened to the Mississippi truck farmers was the establishment of a Federal-State Inspection Service at the Farmer's Central Market in Jackson, according to Commissioner of Agriculture, Si Corley. Corley writes that the inspection certificates "give a word picture of the products."

This protects buyers at a distant market who have ordered carload lots of fruits or vegetables "because it enables them to know the quality can be expected" and that established grades and standards are used.

SAYS COPIAH IS BEST TOMATO

Superintendent John A. Campbell, head of the Copiah County Vegetable Experiment Station, says that 55 different varieties of the county that tried the newly developed Kopiah variety of tomatoes for commercial purposes last year found it a heavier bearer than the Rutgers variety which has been the favorite for the past 15 years.

Campbell says that five years of experiments with the Kopiah tomatoes shows it bore 180 field boxes per acre against 144 for Rutgers, and that the Kopiah is practically free of wilt, which usually bothers tomatoes.

DREAM REALIZED AS YOUNG BAY ATTORNEY OCCUPIES OWN OFFICE

Cornelius Ladner, young Bay St. Louis attorney, moved into his new office at 124 Main St. Monday, Feb. 1. This move realized the fulfillment of a goal set by him at the age of ten years.

Young Ladner, as a farm boy, dreamed of someday practicing law and occupying his own office building.

It was a long and bitter struggle for this youth to achieve the goal he set for himself at ten.

A member of a large and extremely impoverished family, he received his elementary education at Dedeaux School. Upon his graduation from there he was determined to attend St. Stanislaus.

Receiving aid from the NYA program, which paid $6.00 a month to the school, it was necessary for the boy to work after school to provide clothing and incidentals for himself. This he did, taking various types of jobs to earn a few dollars.

He was graduated from Stanislaus in 1939, and by that time had decided to attend Pearl River Junior College. He enrolled and worked on a farm for 10c an hour to earn the necessary funds to provide schooling for himself. In 1941 he completed two years of junior college work, and tackled another diploma on his wall.

Then came the war and Cornelius enlisted. He served in the Field Artillery in the South Pacific.

Receiving an honorable discharge at the end of the war, he returned to Bay St. Louis determined to pursue the study of law. He attended the University of Mississippi and received his degree in 1948.

In 1947 he was elected State Senator for the 40th Senatorial District, comprising Hancock, Lamar and Pearl River Counties. During his term he asked "Are you finished with politics?" Ladner replied "I have other goals but must continue to work toward them."

Part of his dream realized, he returned to Bay St. Louis, hung out his shingle and began the practice he had signed her work due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. L. M. Clarke.

Mrs. Nolan and Mrs. Clarke will be a number of years. She was presented with a piece of samsonite luggage as a farewell gift from fellow choir members.

her mother, Mrs. L. M. Clarke. The surprise party was held in the Sunday School Auditorium of the Church Building. Mrs. Nolan had been a member of the choir for a number of years. She was presented with a piece of samsonite luggage as a farewell gift from fellow choir members.

This completely modern suite of offices contains a pleasant reception room, a large office, a locker and bathroom. The ceilings are acoustic and the building is air conditioned.

Clients waiting to interview the attorney are in a restful atmosphere. The walls are painted light green, and drapes of forest green subdue the outside glare.

At the age of 34, with many obstacles surmounted, he feels he has come a long way, but has set further goals which he is determined to reach.

Ladner is married to the former Miss Bonnelle Price and is the father of two sons, Stanford and Cornell.

Party for Mrs. Nolan

Members of the choir of the First Baptist Church entertained Saturday night following practice with a surprise party honoring Mrs. Carrie Nolan.

Mrs. Nolan, who celebrated her twentieth year as a beautician in Bay St. Louis last September, was forced to resign her work due to the illness of her mother, Mrs. L. M. Clarke.

Mrs. Nolan and Mrs. Clarke will be a number of years. She was presented with a piece of samsonite luggage as a farewell gift from fellow choir members.

quired the construction of one of the largest interior sets ever built. The set, a 6,000 square foot Mexican Hacienda, contained such unusual features as mortared brick floors, solid mahogany beams, hand-carved mahogany stairway and multi-colored ceramic decorations.

The fourth star of the oil field drama is played by Anthony Quinn, who creates an empire in the black gold for Barbara Stanwyck, only to lose it all in a climax set in a holocaust of burning oil and mandibulants.

"Blowing Wild At Star" Sun, Mon, Feb. 14 - 15

"Blowing Wild," the new adventure-drama from Warner Bros., brings to the screen an unprecedented list of Academy Award winners in the major roles. Gary Cooper, winner of the 1952 Academy Award as the actor of the year, stars with Barbara Stanwyck, Anthony Quinn, Award winner as the outstanding supporting actor of 1952, and Ruth Roman. In addition, Dimitri Tiomkin, double winner of last year's Oscar for his musical score of "High Noon," composed the background music and title song for "Blowing Wild." It is sung in the film by Frankie Laine.

In "Blowing Wild," Gary Cooper is a wildcatter oilman who fights not only nature herself, but the bandits who infested Mexico during the early thirties. There is also a woman who causes Cooper some anxious moments.

The woman is played by Barbara Stanwyck in a role that reportedly takes full advantage of her ability to portray beautiful, temperamental women. Standing between the harassed Cooper and the tempestuous Miss Stanwyck is the curvaceous figure of Ruth Roman, whose love for the gangling wildcatter is considerably purer than her rival's.

The scenes which show the training fine documentary-styled film that resolves its purpose with clarity and distinction.

The scenes which show the training constitute the greater part of the film. They are vivid, explicit and interesting and give the civilian an opportunity to see, in some degree, what military life actually entails. The rifle range, the obstacle course, gas mask drills, bayonet, G.I. parties, inspection, drills and other phases that are permissible for the screen are shown.

One of the best bits is where Widmark convinces one of the recruits that he really can hit the target on the rifle range. To prove it he stands legs outstretched, and orders the boy to shoot between his legs at the target. He does this knowing full well that the lad hates him, as do the others,

CHILDREN SELECTED TO PARTICIPATE IN CARNIVAL BALL

Speculation as to the identity of their majesties and keen interest in the coming Carnival Ball of S.J.A. is the topic of conversation these days.

With the approach of the Mardi Gras season, and with the added interest derived from the many New Orleans pre-Mardi Gras activities, the local ball is beginning to loom as the most important function in town.

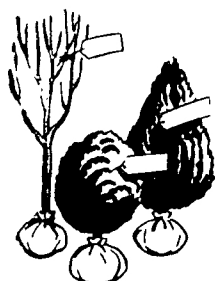

Children were selected this week from convent students to take part in the tableau and dances for the paid $5.00 per day for each meeting plus six cents per mile for travel. No more than sixty days may be paid for in any one year.

The present County School Board continues to function as such until the first day of June, 1954, when the new County Board will become operative.

County School Board members will be required to furnish $10,000 surety bond.

Next week we will give the sections of this bill dealing with the election, qualifications, duties and salary of the County Superintendent of Education.

Burns-Vassalli Nuptials Wed.

One of the beautiful weddings of the month was that of Miss Elizabeth Vassalli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vassalli, to Mr. Albert Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burns of New Orleans. The ceremony took place Wednesday afternoon, February 10, at 3 o'clock at Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was radiant in an exquisite bridal creation of white tulle and lace, and a long train of white tulle. She wore a crown of pearls and long earrings of pearls. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo and a boutonniere of white flowers. The ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Father Hugh Taylor.

During the ceremony Miss Sandra Scafide of New Orleans sang Schubert's "Ave Maria." Professor Hemmrichbach played the organ.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was held at the Reed Hotel. Mrs. Vassalli received her guests dressed in a champagne colored late afternoon frock of lace and satin.

The bride's table held a wedding cake in an unusual design of a heart flanked by a rectangle and topped with a heart tier decorated with fresh flowers matching those used in the bride's bouquet. Silver candelabra held light tapers, and delicate white flowers and ferns trailed gracefully across the tablecloth.

The young couple left on a motor trip to an unnamed destination. Upon their return the bride will be at home with her parents until her husband, who is in the army, is located at a permanent post.

The bride chose for traveling a very pale blue lightweight wool suit worn with navy blue accessories, and wore the orchid from her bouquet as a shoulder corsage.
